ITALIAN STAND ACUTE

Decision Said to Be Imminent—Austria Refuses Territorial Concessions It Is Claimed.

London, April 20.—Although the German claim on the one hand and British and French on the other are diametrically opposed in matter of outcome of the battle for Hill No. 60, southeast of Ypres and near the northern extremity of the British line, the facts at hand indicate that this engagement was the most important along the British front since the battle of Neuve Chapelle, and that it perhaps presages the expected general British activity in Flanders.

The British, whether or not they hold the whole ground they gained, undoubtedly a line of hills running southeast of Ypres and commanding the road from Ypres to Menin. The losses in this fighting have not been announced.

Judging from the dispatches received in London they have been considerable on both sides. The Germans declare the British made use of shells containing deadly gasses. The British reply continues to be that the Germans first resorted to this means of warfare, so if the British are now using it they are following the example of their opponents.

The Russians continue to hold their firm grip on the main chain of the Carpathians, but news of any decisive action from this arena of the fighting is lacking.

The British press today is speculating as to the whereabouts of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, the German commander on the eastern front. Some newspapers publish the suggestion that he may attempt a diversion in Poland as well as from Cracow, although the idea is advanced that the soggy nature of the land would seem to prevent any such move, except at a great cost of men and material.

Definite gains by the German forces in the west are announced today by the German press. The gains were made particularly in the region between the Meuse and the Moselle rivers. The Berlin statement says the Germans succeeded in penetrating four French positions and recaptured the village of Embrememil.

"The improvement in the weather since the last report resulted in increased activity on both sides. The enemy air service," says a British officer at British army headquarters in France, under date of April 19, "advantage in the exchange have been taken with us. In the Ypres district four hostile aeroplanes have been brought down in the last three days. Date Fixed.

Paris, April 20.—Italy's some time ago fixed date for the consideration of any proposal Austria might wish to make, according to a report current in Rome, says a dispatch from the Figaro. The Austrian ambassador, who has given notice to embassy servants, who now are paid daily, it is said, and the same is true of the payment of tradesmen's bill for goods supplied the embassy.

The Figaro's dispatch declares it is stated in Vatican circles that the visit made to the pope a few days ago by Prince Von Bulow, the German ambassador, was to give farewell to the pontiff as the diplomat believed his departure from Rome is imminent.

Turks Lose Boats. Paris, April 20.—Two Turkish torpedo boat destroyers were blown up, says a Saloniki dispatch, while passing through the belt which Russian ships have succeeded in laying the entrance to the Bosphorus while the Turkish fleet was cruising in the Black sea. The explosion caused by the destruction of the two Turkish boats gave warning to the remainder of the fleet, which, the dispatch says, were obliged to remain in the Black sea because no mine sweepers were available.

Admit Loss. London, April 20.—The British admiralty announced officially today that the British submarine E-15 was destroyed in the Dardanelles by British picket boats.

French Report. Paris, via London, April 20.—The French war office this afternoon gave out the report on the progress of hostilities, which reads:

War News Summary

The Russian fleet which has been attacking the Bosphorus is reported to have caused the destruction of two Turkish torpedo boat destroyers. A dispatch from Saloniki says the Russians mined the entrance to the Bosphorus while the Turkish fleet was cruising in the Black sea, and that the Turkish vessels on returning ran into the mine field.

Advices have been received in Berlin that a British expeditionary force which attempted to invade German East Africa were defeated and driven away with a loss of 700 men. The British force is said to have landed from cruisers and transports. The German losses are given as fifty-six.

The only intimation of a British expedition to East Africa was given out at the time of the sinking of the British steamer Falaba, by a German submarine. At that time it was said that among the passengers, who lost their lives were a number of British officers on their way to Africa.

Italy's decision for or against war is believed in Rome to be imminent. The Rome correspondent of a Paris newspaper telegraphs that today marks the expiration of the time limit fixed by Italy for presentation of proposals by Austria. It is generally understood that Austria has declined to make territorial concessions satisfactory to Italy, and according to this report the German and Austrian ambassadors at Rome are preparing to leave the country.

Greece also is endeavoring to arrive at a fixed policy in regard to the situation brought about by the war. A representative of King Constantine is on his way to Vienna and Berlin, probably on a political mission.

No intimation has been given as to the purpose of the mission, although it is known that King Constantine is a brother-in-law of Emperor William, is opposed to war, and has set himself against the party which favors intervention on the side of the allies.

transport Maniotou in the Aegean sea. The torpedo boat was pursued by British cruisers and destroyers to Chios, where the crew blew up the vessel in order that it might not fall into the enemy's hands.

London reports of April 17 and 18 said that the Turkish warship which attacked the Maniotou was driven ashore and destroyed by the British.

Berlin, via Sayville, April 20.—Among the public news given today by the Overseas agency were:

"Special mail reports from East Africa state that in two days' battle German troops defeated British cruisers and transports. The British lost 700 men, among them four companies captured, besides many rifles and large stores of ammunition. The German casualties were seven officers and 13 men killed, 14 officers and 22 men wounded.

The National Tidende of Copenhagen asserts the German Officers in Belgium are discouraged with the result of the administration. It is officially stated, however, that the contrary is true. NO DOUBT BUT WHAT COLONEL IMPRESSED JURY WITH HIS TALE Rough Rider on Stand Recites All Career—Described as Honest Government Defender.

Syracuse, April 20.—Theodore Roosevelt today went upon the witness stand to defend himself in a legal libel suit brought against him by Wm. Barnes. When the colonel's name was called he arose from his seat at the table occupied by his counsel and smilingly walked around the witness stand. In reply to a question he said he was the man who made the statement complained of. He added:

"I am 58 years old and have a wife and six children."

In reply to a question by Mr. Bowser he told in a firm, clear voice the story of his early life. Then he related his political career. He told of his appointment to service commission and of police commissioner of New York, his appointment as secretary of navy. He told of organizing with General Wood the "Rough Riders" regiment in 1898 and other activities.

Mr. Barnes' counsel placed only one witness upon the stand. He was John McGrath, Colonel Roosevelt's private secretary. He testified that he told the statement complained of to newspaper reporters at Oyster Bay. A partial list of 66 newspapers in which the statement appeared was then read and counsel for the defendant conceded the statement had appeared in them. They also conceded that a detailed statement of the circulation of each of the newspapers mentioned was correct.

The case of the plaintiff was rested after counsel for both sides had delivered their opening addresses to the jury and one witness was heard. William M. Travis, for Barnes, secured the former president as having been the nation's greatest arbiter of mulls and said that he was now in court with an opportunity to prove the alleged libel of things he had said about Mr. Barnes on various occasions.

William H. Van Benschoten, for the defense, described the colonel as the champion of good and honest government and said he had been prompted to make the statement by the belief that there was corruption and rottenness in the administration of the government of the state of New York. He reiterated the statement made yesterday that Colonel Roosevelt meant nothing personal to Mr. Barnes or to Chas. B. Murphy of Tammany hall, as mentioned in the statement, and those named were simply "algebraic terms."

It was planned to recall the first witness for Barnes at the afternoon session of the court.

ADVOCATES MOVIES AS AID TO STUDIES

University of Wisconsin Professor Confident That They Will Play Important Part.

Madison, Wis., April 20.—Prof. William H. Dudley of the visual instruction bureau of the university extension is working on plans for a university film and slide exchange. "Such a thing is the logical development of the future," said Dudley today. "More than 30,000 persons attend each week the motion picture and stereopticon lectures provided by the university. If say, four state universities, would provide 100 films on 1,000 feet each, we would be able after the films had been the rounds of their respective states to move them to another state on an exchange basis. This could be done perhaps at the end of a half or full university year. In this way each university would have the benefit of collections belonging to all others."

There are 155 educational institutions in Wisconsin on the circuits of the visual instruction bureau.

ASSEMBLY ACTS ON THIRTY-THREE BILLS IN LESS THAN HOUR

Lower House of Legislature Uses the Ax on Many Minor Bills Yesterday—Introduce Substitute Forestry Bill.

Madison, Wis., April 20.—With hardly a word of debate the assembly passed on thirty-three bills last night in less than an hour. It killed the Whitcomb bill prohibiting the board of regents and faculty of the state university from delegating authority to the student court to discipline students, and the Ballou bill prohibiting private payment of members of the state militia or any other military or police force in strikes. It engrossed the Schroeder giving cities the option of establishing districts for the collection of garbage, and the Hedding bill prohibiting the unauthorized wearing of badges or uniforms of any police department. It engrossed a bill requiring the state banks to hold a reserve of twelve per cent instead of fifteen per cent, and slaughtered two bills relating to the Wolf River improvement company and its reservoirs in northeastern Wisconsin.

Bury Killa Bill

The Killa bill, prohibiting the operation of a saloon in connection with a general store of the first class, was indefinitely postponed. The Fairchild bill conferring upon the municipal court of Milwaukee concurrent jurisdiction with the circuit court in matters pertaining to habeas corpus was postponed, as was Read's hard bill making a closed season for wood duck until July 1. The assembly advanced the C. H. Everett bill prohibiting the shooting of squirrels in Racine, Kenosha and Pierce counties until after September 1, 1921. It advanced the Rhinehart bill giving the school directors in all cities of the first, second and third classes power to establish and maintain day schools, vacation schools, and other similar activities. It passed the Hedding bill giving members of the civil service commission in cities of the first and second classes $5 per day for extra services, and concurred in Senator Burke's bill permitting physicians and surgeons to testify in will cases. Bill 498, regulating the method of conducting post mortem examinations was referred to the assembly committee on judiciary after it was explained by Assemblyman Mortensen that it had been introduced to assist in the prosecution of a murder case in Barron county. It then came back to the committee for hearing.

Emergency Law

A substitute for the forestry bill came in the senate last night. The forestry case took away every dollar in money previously held for forestry purposes, and the new bill appropriates $30,000 for emergency purposes for the protection of the state's forests in that region. It is already very dry and there is danger of disastrous results without fire protection.

Reconsideration was moved by Senator Husted of the vote by which the senate killed the Stevens bill relating the height of railroad fences. It will be voted upon Wednesday. One third of the senators were present last night.

ITALY HEARS PEACE TALK; PERSISTENT REPORTS FAVORABLE

Belief Is Circulated in Rome That International Questions Confronting Italians May Be Solved.

Rome, April 20.—Within the last twenty-four hours there has arisen in Rome persistent reports that the great international questions confronting Italy may be solved in the near future by what at first sight seemed almost incredible means, and that the conclusion of a general peace in Europe in the near future.

While these reports are intangible and cannot at present be ascribed to definite source, they nevertheless are reflected in high quarters and given heed of careful observers of international politics.

The attitude of Sofia is being regarded with much interest just at present. Efforts are being made by the representatives of the belligerents to induce King Ferdinand to announce his decision. The importance of the attitude of Bulgaria is recognized fully in Rome.

Should she decide with the Teutonic allies, it would be difficult for Rumania to make war upon Austria-Hungary, for she would then be subject to attack by Bulgaria as well as Bulgarian troops coming through Bulgarian territory.

In this connection a prominent diplomat said today:

"Once more is the fate of the Balkans in the hands of Bulgaria. Indeed, this time her decision may have a great weight on the general development of the war."

RACINE BANK WATCH LIFTED A THOUSAND

And Carrying it to the Basement Held It—Laviash Use of Plunder Leads to Jail.

Racine, April 20.—Charles Jensen, 28, employed at the Manufacturers' Bank as special policeman, is under arrest here charged with the theft of $1,000 from the bank. According to the police, Jensen has made full confession. When arrested he asked $200 of the original amount still in his possession.

Six weeks ago Jensen was sent in back of the teller's cage on an errand and shortly thereafter a sack containing $1,000 in gold was missing. Suspicion pointed to Jensen since he had been under surveillance ever since. Recent expenditures for clothes, motorcycle and various other expensive articles were noted in his arrest.

In his confession Jensen said that immediately after the theft he secreted the money in the basement of the bank. He said he lost $300 while carrying it in his pocket.

SPORTS

LEGALIZED BOXING PROVES A SUCCESS UNDER STATE RULE

Sport Has Been Sane and Wisely Conducted in Wisconsin Under State Commission Control.

Legalized boxing in Wisconsin—ten rounds, without technical provision such a success under commission supervision that it seems certain to continue for another two years at least, and there is a possibility that the state will pass legislation this year permitting the sport under restrictions modeled along the lines of the Wisconsin idea. Notable among the states that contemplate legalized boxing is Illinois. There the legislators are having a bit to permit the sport in all cities with over 10,000 inhabitants. What the fate of the measure will be is problematical, but if the law is passed Chicago is certain to become one of the biggest centers in this country.

During the past six weeks an effort was made by some of the Wisconsin legislators opposed to boxing, to prohibit the sport in the Badger state, but when the question came to a vote a decided majority stood firmly in favor of the law remaining. Another attack on the game may be made later in the present session of the legislature, but from the looks of things it is doubtful if the enemies of boxing can muster enough votes to accomplish their purpose.

Boxing has been sane and wisely conducted in Wisconsin and the greater part of the credit for this happy state of affairs is due to the good alignment shown by the members of the state boxing commission—Walter H. Linger, William A. Hart and Dr. C. W. Morter. Each gentleman has the best interests of the game at heart and each has been seen observing that the law is faithfully observed by the promoters. There has not been a scandal in connection with the sport since it was legalized. The same exacting care that is exercised over the boxing business, with the boxers as well. Both parties to contracts are compelled to live up to their agreement. In a few cases fighters have been punished for not exerting their best effort, and some instances are on record where boxers have not been permitted to engage in a contest because they were not physically fit. This precaution has reduced the chance of serious accident to a minimum.

In this connection it might be stated that the commissioners have been as diligent in looking after the interest of the state as they have been in keeping the sport at a high standard. In the past two years the Wisconsin treasury has been enriched by nearly $200,000 through the collection of 5 per cent tax on the total receipts of all fights, and it will not be stretching the truth far to state that by Jan. 1, 1917, the state will be $50,000 richer through the operation of the boxing law.

Promoters Get No Profit. While the state has profited, however, the same cannot be said of the men who promote the sport. With the exception of two clubs, the season has not been profitable. The Hudson A. C. has staged a number of big matches and undoubtedly has a balance on the right side of the ledger. The three Milwaukee clubs—Crest City, National and the South Side, have nothing to brag about as a result of the last six months of labor. Too many shows and too keen a competition have been the result. The Milwaukee promoters, it is understood, that the commission will have more power to regulate the number of shows in the future so that the promoters will be better results for all concerned.

The high percentage and guarantees paid to the so-called stars of pugilism have hurt the promoters in Milwaukee just as they have in every spot where the game thrives, and until the men behind the sport unite in curbing the demands of the money makers the game cannot be made profitable except for the fighters.

Several of the big clubs around the country are beginning to see the light, however, and it will not be surprising to hear of an agreement among the matchmakers that will compel the boxers to be reasonable or else remain idle.

ROUTED BY RECUIT TWIRLER OF DETROIT; SCORE 6-1

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Detroit, April 20.—The White Sox, even with Eddie Collins, need to grease up their bats and start clouting the ball before they can win games. The Tigers gave the Sox an other wallop yesterday when Bernie Boland was introduced to the world from the "bushes" down in Louisville, head of the Sox hitting Cobb at the head of the fourth inning and from here on they fought an uphill battle. ACTIVE PARTISANS.

We hear so much of the suffragettes and their purpose to secure equal suffrage for their sex that it is interesting to note that right here in Wisconsin we have an organization of women who are opposed to woman suffrage. That they are organized and are doing all in their power to prevent the present legislature from passing a suffrage bill that would refer the question to a vote of the people is a fact. A little over two years ago by an adverse majority of ninety-two thousand votes to a referendum of the voters at the next national election. One of the strongest pleas present is that after such a conclusive vote in opposition to the plan with no new reasons why it should again be presented it is simply idle to talk to again instill it into a campaign. Important national issues are to be fought out. Their argument as set forth in a circular sent out to the legislators and press reads in part: "What does a referendum mean? Does it settle anything? Is the referendum but an idea for the idle to play with at will, at the expense of the taxpayers? Once a question is submitted to the people and settled by their vote it is certainly should be final until some new reason is advanced. New elements arise or changed conditions warrant a re-assessment that a different result is sought by and may be expected from the people."

"Who is asking for this referendum? The same identical forces that urged it two and a half years ago. The prohibition party, believing that woman suffrage would strengthen their party, has endorsed the movement. The socialists, believing that woman suffrage will double their vote; while the women adherents of other political parties will not vote, at least in any great number, have endorsed the movement. The idle, homeless, childless women in the land, women who are constantly seeking some new avenue of notoriety, some new fad with which to while away their time, are clamoring loudly for woman suffrage. They would use the franchise as a toy, to cast aside when its newness and its novelty wore away, but they would force woman suffrage upon the great majority of women, thus encumbering the wheels of government with an unwilling electorate."

"The politicians who grasp at any straw that promises resurrection, who hope to gain a new lease of political life via the woman suffrage route, add their voices to that of the minority of women demanding the ballot. Having no greater interest than their own advancement, politically, the question of the needless expense of a useless referendum does not enter into consideration at all. Nor are they concerned with the fact that the country is facing a national crisis, and that the issues should not be clouded by the woman suffrage agitation."

"The advocates of woman suffrage in this state today are the same advocates who forced the issues at the polls two years and four months ago, and saw it go down into defeat. There is no material increase in their numbers and they have no valid excuse for their request for another vote of the people at this time."

In view of the fact there is so much other legislation of vast importance to the state as a whole, and the question at issue has been before the people so recently, it is probable the legislature will postpone action by recommending the bill for indefinite postponement.

THE RIVER.

Janesville has at its very doors a recreation park that many an inland town would take advantage of. Evansville is today discussing the plan of creating an artificial lake within its confines that will be a wonderful addition to its scenery and to its pleasures. Other communities dam up creeks, make mill ponds, pleasure resorts and otherwise improve on what nature has given them. While some of the citizens appreciate the gift of nature in the presence of the Rock river, yet not enough realize its beauties and its possibilities. The wonderful scenery that unfolds itself all the way from the city to the dams at Fulton and Indian cord. The wonderful banks, the wood-shores are all placed there for the enjoyment of mankind. True, many families have already established cottages along the river bank and enjoy nature, but the great bulk of the citizens must go traveling off to some neighboring lake, to some other city or even some other state, and rave over insipid beauties that can be found right here at home without half the bother and none of the worry and trouble and expense.

"THE YELLOW PERIL."

California has been having its usual scare of the yellow peril for some weeks past over the report that Japan was establishing a naval base on the Gulf of Lower California, well within the Mexican border, however. An alarmist newspaper writer visited the scene and made a lurid tale of what he found and the "Golden State" paused the march of the "native sons" in the reception line for gullible visitors to the two big fairs now going on, long enough to set up a howl of protest. Now it appears that all Japan is doing is trying to salvage a warship of their own that ran aground on a mud bank, damaged it, "what-you-may-call-it" and is still fast aground awaiting some giant cranes from Japan to lighten its burden and float it again. The harbor that was mined has simply fishing buoys planted that have been located to give the consorts of the wrecked cruiser an opportunity to make a few additions to their food supply while they wait. It all goes up in hot air and explodes like a balloon when touched with a cigar stub, but it gave the "Jingoist" something to talk about and the yellow journalist, who has apparently deserted the Atlantic seaboard as too near the European war, for the peaceful Pacific, something to write about.

WILL HE COME BACK?

The question now asked is, "Will Huerta come back?" That is, will he again enter Mexico at the head of an army and bring peace to the nation that is now filled with armed men? Unquestionably Huerta during his term as dictator did nothing that would give evidence he was a great leader or a pacifier. In fact it would appear to be otherwise, but still he is now in New York with the avowed intention of returning to his native land and perhaps he may after all be the one man in a thousand that can unite the warring elements.

"Never count your chickens before they are hatched" is an old saying and another good one is "do not count your garden harvest before the seeds germinate. Lots of tales are being told just now about the wealth of the summer gardens, but thus far Dame Nature has been only remiss in sending suitable weather to ready develop anything worth while except a crop of angle-worms."

This is the time of the year when the young man's thoughts turn to love. Well, it is love that makes the world go round and keeps the jeweler busy during the off season. It also adds a few dollars to the minister's stipend and otherwise helps to increase population.

The burning question is, "Shall I or shall I not?" You see the man with the perspiring face at noon day, heated and cross, and you decide you shall. Then about six you find the chap with the cold and cough and his spring evening wrapped around his form and you decide you will not. It is a burning question, but take a sage's advice and wait until the apple blossoms come.

Janesville might just as well have a first-class Boy Scouts brigade in this city as anything. However, until they can be demonstrated that the parents will take enough interest in the establishment of a corps to see that rules and regulations are lived up to, there is no need to waste time or money in the project.

One question hard to answer is, "Why is Janesville not a member of the State Y. M. C. A. organization? If it is not what right has it to the name Y. M. C. A. anyway? If we have all these problems will be answered at the annual meeting, it is to be hoped, so why worry?"

SNAP SHOTS

Give a man his choice of any one thing and he will take the privilege of putting on a show for the benefit of the ladies.

The oldest magazine is the one in the doctor's office.

If all a woman wants is kindness, consideration, fair treatment and privilege she doesn't need the ballot to get it.

The most cheerful giver is the man who believes that generosity will get into the newspapers.

Give a woman a chance to select it herself and the inscription on her tombstone would read: "She suffered in silence."

Buck Kilby says a bigamist is a man who has a repertoire of wives.

Broadly speaking, a fool is any man who doesn't agree with you.

While it may be no indication of his superiority over men, it must be said for a man that he can scratch his own back.

When a town man is particularly friendly to a farmer that means his car is "dead" a quarter of a mile down the road.

The rich man spends his money in an effort to perfect his personal desires. The poor man spends his in buying clothes for the daughter who is about to graduate from high school.

UNCLE ABNER.

Hank Tumms says every feller has got a lot of distant relatives and they are never more distant than when you ask them for the loan of two dollars.

Gettin' married ain't the snap it used to be before the common people began keepin' help and eatin' dinner at night.

Goin' home sauced at night seems to be one of the pastimes that is rapidly goin' out of style. A feller can't get drunk and get by nowadays.

When there are three women goin' across the road in front of an automobile, one will go on across, another will go back and the third will stand still.

Hank Tumms of our village has got the appointment of deputy sheriff and if he performs the duties of his office impartially he will have to arrest himself about three times a day.

There are so many different kinds of conscriptions on the market that most of the hardware stores haven't got room to keep anything else in stock.

In these more or less modern times a man has got to be a fairly successful liar.

To keep from offending one's friends.

To sell a second-hand automobile.

To be a "good conversationalist."

To keep peace in the family.

To belong to the merely human race.

They Might Wear Fewer Smiles.

One of the questions that worries mere man these days is whether or not women wear in summer time in order to keep cool, for he can't discern what possible change there can be

The Retort Discourteous.
A sweet feminine voice spoke when our garage man answered the telephone the other evening.
"Have you any dry batteries?"
asked the sweet one.
"Yes, sir, we have," answered Bob politely.
"Then give them a drink, please,"
she said. "Good night."

SUBSCRIBE TO FUND TO SECURE A PORT FOR OLD LAKE BOAT.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Port Washington, Wis., April 20.—
A fund is being raised here by popular subscription to provide a permanent foundation for the anchor of the old steam freighter Toledo, wrecked off this port nearly 60 years ago. The subscriptions are limited to $1 from each person.

The Toledo, then one of the largest boats on the lake, came into this port to take on freight in the fall of 1856. A storm arose and the captain feared she would be crushed against the pier. He took her well out in the lake and the anchor was thrown out.
The boat began to pound against the heavy chain. Efforts to raise the anchor failed. During the night the Toledo sank. Fifty-seven bodies were recovered and all were buried in Union cemetery.

The big anchor was recovered a few years ago and has been lying in a vacant lot. It is planned to mount it in the cemetery and dedicate it on Memorial Day.

PRESS CENSORSHIP FAR TOO RIGOROUS

Chairman of Important Foreign Committee Declares Censorship Laws too Strict for Country's Good.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
London, April 20.—The press censorship in both France and England is said to be too rigorous for the good of the countries' cause in the opinion of M. Henry Franklin-Bouillon, chairman of the Committee of Foreign Affairs of the French Chamber of Deputies, who has been heard at a series of war conferences with Lord Kitchener, Chancellor Lloyd-George,
Sir Edward Grey and other statesmen.

"Part of the work of the committee which sent me on my present mission," he said, "is to urge that not only in our own countries but in neutral countries as well, a true perspective of the course of events should be held out."
"In England and France alike, the main obstacle is the excessive rigor of the censorship, and this subject I discussed with the members of the committee in England. I was glad to learn that some concessions to the press are now being considered."

"That we all feel on the foreign committee is that our own commu-niqués are too bald and uninteresting to maintain them steadily until victory is won. The English Eye-Witnesses, one with the English army and one with the French, are certainly doing fine work; but to get at the great masses of people, things must be disseminated and presented in a series of different ways by trained writers, each with his own point of view and literary style."

Committee's standpoint
it is a supreme need that the doings of the French army should be brought home to the imagination of the English people, and to that end a strong recommendation has been officially made that a few newspaper correspondents be attached to the Headquarters Staff. If that is done, it will perhaps be the beginning of a strong recommendation of the French more into the confidence of our Governments than is the case at present."

HOW A TOOTH DECAYS

When you let a day or two slip by without cleaning your teeth, the tiny pieces of food which remain between them and around them, begin to decay. This decay is caused by germs of microbes—very, very small; and the mouth acids are produced. You then have what is called "acid-mouth". The tooth is the hardest substance in the human body and yet it cannot hold out against the mouth-acids. It wears away a little by little, until a hole is made, and then the destructive little germs have an open door to the softer interior of the tooth. Nobody but your dentist can save that tooth. He will clean out the cavity and fill it up. But you must see him promptly.

LITTLE SCHOOLMATE MISSED THIS MORNING

GRIEF GRIPS THE WASHINGTON SCHOOL IN DEATH OF WILLARD ROTHERMEL.

FUNERAL IS THURSDAY

Rev. Williams to Officiate—Investigation to Be Held This Afternoon.

The second seat in the second row, a small school seat, in the seventh grade of the Washington school, was empty this morning when school was called.

As the pupils filed slowly into the room for the morning session and looked at the empty seat, there were tears filling the eyes of every member of the class of forty-five. As they sat in the seats that had comprehended the meaning of the missing pupil, for Little Willard Rothermel, the brightest and most favored student and schoolmate, had met an untimely fate yesterday afternoon in a street car accident.

As Miss Mable Madden, the teacher, called the roll and came to the dead child's name, there was a hush and all looked down at their desks in the thought of the fate that had befallen the little boy who had brightened the room. As the next name was called, the teacher who defeated tears wiped her eyes and the girls were weeping. Miss Madden, unable to stand the strain, also burst into tears, for fate had struck that little school room hard.

Sorrow at Home.

Almost in the rear of the school, at 463 North Terrace street, at the Rothermel home, the father and mother of the boy were overcome by the death of their child, the oldest of three. Mr. and Mrs. Rothermel and two small children were reached at Delavan and returned early in the evening.

At recess time, the grades filed out, there was not the usual laughter and boyish, boisterous romping, and only a half hearted baseball game occupied the pupils' attention. For every missed Willard, the parents could hear the shouts from the playing, and it must have struck a hard pang. "He was at the head of his class, and a most perfect mannered student," said Mr. Madden this morning. "To see him only a half hour before the accident, looking keenly over his school books, and to hear of his death is most unbelievable. The boy was the winner of the Curtis test in arithmetic in the Washington school, and his school work was most promising."

Both the police department and the traction company made a thorough investigation of the accident this morning. The car company having S. B. Smith, safety agent, conducting their examination, and the police department, who witnessed the accident, it has developed that the Rothermel child was walking down the west side of Academy street, near the corner of the eighth grade pupils. On the opposite side of the street were the seventh grade pupils to the manual training and sewing classes going to the high school.

The car, number 21, in charge of Howard Cutts, was coming down the street and was slowing up for the street crossing at Green's warehouse. As the car passed the corner, the Rothermel boy darted out from his companions, and, not seeing the car, started to cross the street. When on the track, several of the eighth grade pupils shouted a warning to him and he stopped in the west side of the track to ascertain their meaning. It is said by eye witnesses that the boy turned, put his hands against the side of the car, and was knocked down in almost an instant. The car was reversed and the body dragged a distance of between six and ten feet. The car was then driven on, and it is not known whether the boy was killed or not. The body was not found until it was placed in a coffin and taken to the funeral home. The body was placed in a coffin and taken to the funeral home. The body was placed in a coffin and taken to the funeral home.

What caused the crash at the head, which caused almost instant death, has not been explained, for it is certain that the wheels did not touch the boy. One opinion expressed was that the fender crushed the boy's head and not the front of the car.

It did not see the boy until he was a few feet from the front of the car, stated Motorman Cutts. This probably "it was not until he stepped on the tracks that I saw the danger, for he must have come diagonally across the street." The testimony of the Washington school children also bears out the fact that the child ran directly in front of the car without warning.

Funeral Thursday.

Funeral services will be held at one-thirty o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Methodist church. The Rev. T. D. Williams will officiate. The body was removed to the Ashcraft undertaking parlor from Ryan's morgue, where it was first taken. The boy is survived by his bereaved parents, a sister, Elizabeth, age six years, and a baby brother, two years old.

Notices have been sent to all the property owners by City Clerk J. P. Hammelund, and the attendance of the citizens is desired by the commission.

A petition has been presented to the council recently asking for a crushed-stone pavement. Yesterday afternoon the councilmen held a conference on the petition and after much discussion expressed a view that it would save the property owners money to put down a more permanent pavement. Not wishing to "arbitrate" the commission decided the hearing would be held to put the matter before the people who are affected by the plans. The cost of the pavement per lot will be estimated and the system of a 23 foot concrete pavement explained.

City Clerk Hammelund was directed to advertise for bids for the construction of sidewalks ordered by the city during the coming year. Bids on the city printing for the publishing of the city laws was also ordered.

The reports of the visiting nurse association for the month of February and March were received, accepted and filed. In February there were thirty old cases and eleven new cases, a total of forty-one. About the same number were treated in March. Two hundred and sixty-five calls were made in the two months.

The bonds of the city officers, elected on April 6th, were approved. The officers except Judge Charles Lange filed their bonds.

City Clerk J. P. Hammelund was instructed to have the city police department motorcycle registered and procure a license for the "speeder's" license.

The board of public works report on the sewerage bids was received and the contract awarded to G. W. Mulholland by the council.

The application of Dr. E. M. Sartell for the position of city health officer was received and accepted. The city was received and placed on file.

The Janesville Electric company was ordered to remove the arc light on McKee boulevard and Eastern avenue and on South Chicago street and Eastern avenue. One hundred power lights were ordered to be placed at the direction of Councilman Roy in addition to these two points and in between Eastern avenue and McKee boulevard and at South Third and Sinclair streets.

Councilman P. J. Goodman was instructed to build a combination curb and gutter in front of the Adams school. Bids for the construction of this work will be advertised.

The city council adjourned until Wednesday, when the hearing will be held. The meeting was held on Monday as Mayor Fathers was out of the city today.

COUPLE'S TROUBLES SETTLED BY COURT

Case Against Archie Woodman Dismissed When Happy Pair Agree to Make a New Attempt.

Blind Dan Cupid had nothing on Attorney Louis Avery, District Attorney Dunwiddie and Judge Maxfield in the municipal court yesterday afternoon when the case of the state vs. Archie Woodman was called on the docket. Mrs. Woodman, who is but eighteen or nineteen years of age, was a bride for a few months and her experience with friend husband is said to have been quite distasteful at times. At least she caused his arrest for abandonment and the case was put on the records some weeks ago. The time of the arraignment the court tried to effect a system of "forget and forgive" by having the two in conference in the office. All visiting K. P. are cordially invited to be present.

By RUTH CAMERON

SPIRITUAL ELECTRICITY.

We were speaking the other day of a newspaper man whom we all used to know. He once ran a weekly paper in a city not far from ours. The paper failed and he went back to work as a reporter on another man's paper.

The circumstances of that failure were a trifle unusual. He and his partner had inaugurated a subscription campaign. They printed and sold tickets to Europe. The contest entirely failed of its purpose, for the largest number of subscriptions was pitifully small. What happened? Well the paper was sold and the tickets were bought with the money. The winners went to Europe, and our friend, with his savings of five years gone, went cheerfully back to work, to scribble and save and hope for another five years.

We had been talking over these experiences and Molly had been listening with wide, shining eyes. "Wasn't it splendid of him to buy those tickets when it meant giving up everything?" she said finally.

The cynic rather resented Molly's admiration. "I shouldn't wonder if he couldn't help himself," said the want-to-be-cynic.

"Oh, no," said Molly with a quiver in her voice. "I wouldn't want to believe that."

"And why not?" said the cynic, who seemed rather taken back at this display of feeling. "Didn't know you were specially interested in that direction, Molly."

"It isn't that at all and you know it isn't," retorted Molly, coloring up. "It's just this: she went on, slowly, feeling her way. "It seemed such a fine thing to do that I'd be sorry to think he only did it because he had to. It made me feel kind I happy to know that someone could be honest and fine like that."

"You ever feel that way, reader friend? Thrilled and uplifted and made happy with a sort of glorified thought of the thought of a fine deed?"

One Way at Least in Which Honesty Pays.

I have, often. And when I hear people question whether honesty and fitness pay I wonder if they count in that part of the price.

A writer of this country declares that this country could better spare vast quantities of its material resources than its spiritual resource in the possession of the character and life of Lincoln.

When I am appalled by the greed and dishonesty of some of our financiers who do not hesitate to impose a heavy tax on the future of a business by inflating its stock value in the hope they may add two or three more millions to already swollen fortunes, I comfort myself by remembering that there are such men as Henry Ford.

The Rich Man Who Gave Up His Own Luxury.

The thought of Ford of Boston (I often wonder if he is any relative of the automobile man) who gave up his own luxury, his own fine house, because he did not think it right for him to have it when so many lacked the necessities of life, is an inspiration and bulwark to me. It helps keep me facing the right way to remember that there are men sane enough to make fortunes who are yet distinctly and earnestly doing things like that.

These are the kind of men that I keep our faith in human nature. We see dishonesty and greed and selfishness all about us and we wonder if they are not after all the measure of man.

And then a touch upon lives like these and the thrill that passes through us is like a spiritual electricity galvanizing us back into hope and faith and belief in human-kind.

Animal Jingles

FOR LITTLE FOLK

By ALICE CREW GALT

HOW THE ANIMALS MADE GARDEN.

The summer vacation in Animal town was always a lively affair.

For the children go to good Mother McGrew's and spend their vacation time there.

And each time they go there the animals find that thoughtful old Mother McGrew has planned some new game of the interesting thing that she thinks they'll be happy to do.

Last summer as soon as they got there she said: "I have a most excellent game for you. Suppose you make gardens of your very own, and raise things to eat if you can."

The animals hailed the idea with delight. And all fell to planning with zest.

Each said to the other, "I feel very sure that my garden plot will be best."

Now none of them had the remotest idea of vegetable gardens and so the questions they asked were as queer as could be. Regarding the things they should grow.

For instance, when Mother McGrew said, "I think I'll let you plant just what you please," Miranda Mouse squeaked with excitement and said, "Then I'll have a garden of cheese."

But when good old Mother McGrew had explained to them just how gardens are made, they said, "We are sure this is going to be the nicest game we ever played."

Then she said to her children, "Tomorrow we'll start to work if the weather is bright."

Of the queer things they did, and the fun that they had, I'll tell you the next time I write.

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a little girl nearly fourteen, and am so lucky, or what you might call it, as to have two brothers bigger than myself and one just younger, and when my girl chums come to see me I like to have my brothers play games with us like blindman's buff and black and white and chess and every blunder where my brothers like to play with us. Lately I started to get a little girl friend with a girl and I can do better or not. Please advise me.

It is evident from the tone of your letter that you do not even respect the man. There may be happiness where there is not love, but it is infinitely happier than being married to this man the way you feel.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a lady, twenty-eight years old. For some time I have been going with a widower. When his wife became sick he sent her to the poorhouse, and after she died he gave away her two children. He has one little girl left with him. The lady with whom he boards wants me to go with him. And at my age I don't know whether I can do better or not. Please advise me.

One of the most healing applications for chapped skin or lips is rosebuds and tincture of benzoin, mixed in equal parts.

In reply to R. P. L.: You can find the pronunciation of the words in an unabridged dictionary. I regret that I am not able to use any powder, as it shows very badly.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of nineteen and I am keeping company with a gentleman of twenty-two. He is very dear to me, but he can't hold a position, and is always short of money. He wears good clothes, but it's not good looking. My curiosity is not satisfied by his money. I think he is only unfortunate in not finding the right kind of work. Is it wrong for me to give him car checks, his socks and handkerchiefs? I often take him cake and little lunches, and help him keep up appearances. Nobody knows I help him. What would he do if I stopped? I love him dearly and we both want to get married as soon as he can support me.

CONSTANCE.

You are doing the boy an injury by helping him so much. Make him stand on his own feet and tell him that until he earns a comfortable salary you will not even consider marrying him. This means that you must maintain a purely platonic relationship or what you say will have no effect. A boy who works earnestly can at least hold a job, that is, if he is of normal intelligence.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Will you answer personal letters if a stamped envelope is enclosed, and not publish the letter afterward, and not give my name? If there is a good reason why the letter should not be printed.

NEW LORD ROTHSCHILD NOT IN BANKING BUSINESS.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] London, April 20.—The new Lord Rothschild is not connected with the banking business which his father controlled during a long lifetime. The new Lord, the Hon. Walter Lionel, is in his 48th year. He sat for a time in the House of Commons as a Unionist member, but not finding politics to his liking, retired in favor of his cousin Lionel, oldest son of Leopold de Rothschild.

His real occupation of the new Lord is a natural history and the collection of wild animals, especially such as are capable of, at any rate, partial domestication. At Tring Park, his country home, he has built a most important Natural History Museum, which contains some 250,000 specimens of rare birds and insects. To add to this collection he has at one sent expeditions to the remotest corners of the world.

While the rain poured down on the thirsty earth and the delicious coolness pervaded the air, Nell, utterly spent with the fierce emotions of the day, sank into a quiet sleep.

The old man came softly to the door to call them to dinner, but Dick held up a warning finger and he tiptoed away. It was 3 o'clock when she opened her eyes.

"Why, I've been asleep," she said in surprise, looking at the clock.

"I should say you had slept nearly two hours. It has been a world of good. Are you strong enough to listen to me, dear?" he asked.

"There is no need to talk if it is all a lie. I'm so sorry I doubted you, but I was carried right off my feet."

"There's not a word of apology that would do any good after all I've made you suffer on account of Miss Parsons. There's just this to say: I'm going to ask Parsons to take her out of my office. If he objects, I'll tell him just what she did and then he'll surely make some other arrangement."

"I hope she will know why the change was made," Nell nestled close in his arms and listened to the rain.

"She will know that, all right. I intend to send her letter to her and tell her how I came by it. I hope the same letter I can tell her that Parsons has given her another place for her desk."

"That will be good, and Mrs. Ellison can take a nap, being able to go off duty for a while."

"Yes, that's a good idea. I have had my lesson."

"I'm glad you have waked up. Nell said Mrs. Morton, pushing open the door. "I heard voices. Aren't you almost starved? I have saved your chicken and mashed potatoes warm in the oven and I've black-berry pie for dinner; canned berries, of course, for there will be no out of fresh ones this year. You'll never get strong eating irregularly like this. Come, I'm going to put things on the table."

"That sounds good to me," said Dick, setting Nell gently on her feet and kissing her as if reluctant to let her go.

"Yes, that's a good idea. I have had my lesson."

Corn Requires Plenty Of Water and Food

(By Allen B. West.)

Preparation of Corn Ground.
Corn, like people, requires both food and water, for its growth under favorable conditions is very rapid. The water in this case is possible, even more essential than the food, for the plant requires a large amount of water. In addition to that, the soil in which it grows must contain sufficient moisture or the food materials contained in the soil are not available for use by the plant.

Now since the corn plant cannot travel in search of the proper food and moisture conditions it is essential that the soil in which the plant is placed has abundant food and moisture for its growth, also that this is not stolen from it by other plants, which settle themselves in its community.

To provide right conditions in this respect is the work of the farmer or the boy growing corn and it depends upon ability in this direction.

Fall Plowing Best.
Conditions are very greatly improved by plowing in the fall and fast rules, but under ordinary conditions in Rock county it is best to plow land intended for corn in the fall.

TAXPAYERS' LEAGUE DIRECTS ATTENTION TO MADISON AGAIN

Taxes Increasing and People Losing Power.—Administration Must Bring Change Say Members of the Home Rule and Taxpayers' League.

We recently promised to discuss in these articles, some of the bills pending before the legislature, but did not then think what we were undertaking. Review those bills? It would take a large editorial force, constantly at work. Already there have been introduced 711 assembly bills, 499 senate bills, 57 assembly and 49 senate joint resolutions. And probably more are on the way. If three-fourths of these bills and joint resolutions were picked out as useless and unimportant (and they ought to be) it would still leave over three hundred demanding attention and calling for serious discussion. Of course, this is impossible. We can only browse among them, call attention to some important points, and suggest what ought to be done.

There is one bill now under consideration, prepared, as we are informed, by one of the tax officials, providing for higher taxes on real property, a higher rate of income tax, and an increase in the automobile tax. One denies that at the last general election the people demanded lower taxes. The above bill is part of the answer given by those now in power.

When asked at a committee hearing why personal property should not be taxed as well as real property, stated, in substance, as part of his answer, that the amount of personal property a man possesses is no test of his ability to pay taxes. We do not hesitate to say that a more foolish, astounding answer never was made before a legislative committee.

According to that reasoning, if A sells to B a farm for $25,000, B, after the sale, must pay a heavy tax on his land, but A, having only $25,000, is not taxed. The above argument is in no position where we can test his ability to pay. That, doubtless, is the result of expert knowledge, and, in substance, is a statement of no pretensions to superior financial ability must accept, as gospel truth, the above—what shall we call it?—economic heresy.

All this may be amazing, were it not that the inevitable outcome of such teaching, and such policies, is taxes, more taxes, and still more taxes, followed by waste, improvidence and extravagance.

There are some bills now before the legislature providing for a consolidation of several boards and commissions, with a view to securing more economy and greater efficiency. To this policy the present state administration is committed. On this matter solemn promises were made at the campaign during the last campaign. On this the republicans and the democrats were agreed. The voters were practically unanimous in making this demand. In a public discussion recently held in Madison on some of these bills, one of the opponents of the pending measures is reported, by a local paper, to have stated, in the course of his argument, that centralized power would lead to corruption.

Imagine, even an argument coming from a supporter of the present regime. For the past ten years we have been centralizing power in the tax commission, the highway commission, the railroad rate commission, the industrial commission, the highway commission, and other state agencies, until at present the people find themselves shorn of power, under the local guardianship of a business and political bureaucracy, and subject to a bureaucracy that no free people will either continue or tolerate. Was all this to lead to corruption? Not at all. The word "corruption" was not in their vocabulary while that work was going on. Another word was then selected, a word that by constant use, or rather misuse, has been worn to a frazzle—the word "efficiency." When our opponents were centralizing power it was for efficiency; but when the present administration recommends consolidation for economy, efficiency and true democracy, it is corruption.

The people of Wisconsin can be trusted to weigh such utterances, and give them such consideration as they deserve. At that discussion there was another speaker, also an opponent of the administration, but he was fair enough to say, according to the report given by the same paper, that he hopes the present legislature will reduce the cost of government and at the same time add to its efficiency, and he believes that this can be done.

There is a candor in that statement. That is what the people are asking for, what the administration is pledged to: relief from heavy taxation and efficiency in government. There is no reason why we should not have them, and only capricious criticism, political folly and prejudice or rather factional disappointment stand in the way.

It was also stated, at the same discussion, that all the boards and commissions do not call for one-twentieth of the state expenses. If that statement is true, then it is high time to begin to cut down the state expenses. But the statement is not correct, and no manipulation, or juggling of figures, can make it correct. The appropriations for the tax commission and the railroad rate commission are not far from $200,000 a year each. Then consider the appropriations for all the other commissions, including boards and other state agencies, and see where we land, assuming that the sum of all these is only one-twentieth of the state expense. Surely, the methods of qualified experts, and the reports of certified accountants are not finding out. All the time, however, two important facts stand out.

(1) Taxes are constantly increasing, and

(2) Political power is being taken from the people and centralized in these commissions and boards that have come to constitute a new department of government, gathering to themselves not only administrative, but legislative, executive and judicial power.

We earnestly request the members of the league to watch the proceedings at the state capitol. If relief is secured, if genuine economy is instituted, it will be largely because of your watchfulness and determination.

Committee of the League.

YOU CAN'T BRUSH OR WASH OUT DANDRUFF

The Simplest and Quickest Way is To Dissolve It.

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary lard, or even apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft and look and feel a hundred times better.

If you want to preserve your hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for nothing destroys the hair more quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and every one notices it. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.
